

Okhee Lee

Professor of Childhood Education,
New York University|Steinhardt,
Department of Teaching and Learning

Okhee Lee is a professor in the Steinhardt School of Culture, Education, and Human Development at New York University. Her research areas include science education, language and culture, and teacher education. She is leading collaborative research between New York University and Stanford University to develop NGSS-aligned instructional materials to support the language development of elementary students including English learners. She was a member of the NGSS writing team and served as leader for the NGSS Diversity and Equity Team. She was also a member of the Steering Committee for the Understanding Language Initiative at Stanford University. She was a 2009 Fellow of the American Educational Research Association (AERA), received the Distinguished Career Contribution Award from the AERA Scholars of Color in Education in 2003, and was awarded a 1993-1995 National Academy of Education Spencer Postdoctoral Fellowship.